

Mag.^a Dr. Jayme Tauzer

Publikationen

Full Papers (peer reviewed)

Tauzer, J., Cowdell, F., & Nässén, K. (2023). From ethical approval to an ethics of care: Considerations for the inclusion of older adults in ethnographic research from the perspective of a 'Humanisation of Care Framework'. Journal of Aging Studies, 69, 100-110.

Tauzer, J. (2023). Accessing a "bounded space": An ethnographic map of a residential care home for older persons during COVID-19. Aging and Health Research, 15, 123-134.

Full Papers (non-peer reviewed)

Balkin, E., Tauzer, J., & Xiarchi, L. (2023). Reevaluating the care/cure dichotomy: A European perspective on gender inequalities in nursing leadership. Journal of Advanced Nursing, 79(3), 450-460.

Abstracts, Presentations, Posters

"What matters in older person care in a changing world". 4th International NCCS & EACS Conference - Caring in a changing world, Mälardalen University, Sweden, April 27th – 28th April 2022.

Mobilising methods in research with cognitively impaired participants: creative approaches, ethical challenges and translation processes. Royal Anthropological Institute: Mobilising Methods in Medical Anthropology, 18-22 January 2022.

Accessing a "bounded space": An ethnographic map of a residential care home for older persons during COVID-19. Architecturemp: Environments by Design Conference, 1-3 December 2021

Being healthy (or not) together: wellbeing as a form of cultural belonging. Association of Social Anthropologists of the UK and Commonwealth's 2021 conference: Responsibility, Online Conference, 29 March – 2 April 2021.

'Gender & Nurse Leadership'. International Women's Day Xchange Festival. Birmingham City University, Online festival. 9-11 March 2021.

'A project roadmap: an ethnographic investigation of gendered experiences of dignity and well-being among older adults in a residential care setting'. Resfest, Birmingham City University, Online festival. 17 December 2020.

Poster presentation (2019). 'Figuring it out: Materialities of Aging'. Aging & Social Change: Social and Cultural Perspectives on Aging, McGill University, 16-19 September.